First, I don't care if you disagree with it or not. This is the first opportunity I have had to see your motion. Second, you need to read up on trespass on computers. Under North Carolina law, damages are not required to get a court award.

I'll have your reply, with the proof I mentioned in the complaint, which you have ignored, and let your motion be denied for cause.

Mr. Burgess,

Your e-mail from yesterday afternoon, August 8, 2007, is the first communication I have received from you regarding Allen Edmonds' motion to dismiss. I disagree with your statement that you have not had the opportunity to review our motion and "form replies."

On July 23, 2007, and as reflected by the Certificates of Service, I served Allen Edmonds' Motion to Dismiss and Memorandum in Support electronically via ECF, as well as U.S. Mail. We mailed copies to your address of record:

P.O. Box 6355
Hendersonville, NC 28793.

In addition, all of the pleadings in this case are available to you on the ECF system as well as at the courthouse. Accordingly, you have had several opportunities to receive, obtain and review our motion to dismiss.

As a courtesy, I have attached .pdf copies of the July 23, 2007 filings to this e-mail. Please confirm that you received this.

Best Regards,

Brian S. Heslin

Mr. Heslin:

I have now requested from you the pleadings you submitted to the court on behalf of Allen-Edmonds, three times.

Would you please mail me or email me whatever pleading you have filed with the court. It is impossible for me to form replies when I don't have your allegations.

C. Burgess
